Poetry.

LABOR.
Toll wings the axe and forests bow;
The seeds break out to radiant bloom;
Rich harvest smiles behind the plow,
And cities cluster round the loom;
Where tilling dunes and tapering spires, Adorn the vale and crown the hill, Stout labor lights its beacon fire,
And plumes with smoke the fog and mill.
The monarch oak, the woodland's pride, Whose trunk is crowned with lightning scars; Toll launches on the restless tide,
And there snells the flag of wars;
The engine with its lungs of flame,
And ribs of brass and joints of steel, From Labor's phalanx fingers came,
With riving valve and whirling wheel.
'Tis Labor works the magic press,
And turns the crank to hives of toil,
And beckons angels down to bless Industrious hands on sea and soil.
Here embowered toil with cooling shade, Links like to links with silver spade, Strung thick with palaces of trade,
And temples towering to the skies.

SELF-CONTROL.
"Mother," cried a little girl, rushing into the room where a lady sat reading—"Mother!
John struck me in the face with his right hand! O dear! O dear! it hurts so!" And the child pressed her hand against her cheek, and threw her head backward and forward, as if she were in great pain.
The lady's face reddened instantly, and the book fell from her hand to the floor. Starting up, she rushed hurriedly from the room. There was anger in her heart against John, and in the blindness of her sudden indignation, she resolved to punish him with a severe chastise-ment. But ere she reached the apartment in which her child had been playing, she paused suddenly, and stood still. A timely thought glanced through her mind, and arrested her steps.

"This will not do. I must control myself," she said, speaking half-aloud. Then, after a resolute strike with her angry feelings, she went back to the room where she had left her weeping child, and sitting down in her old place, said, with as calm and steady a voice as she could assume:

"Agnes, let me see your cheek."
"O dear! How it hurts!" sobbed Agnes, as she came to her mother's side, her hand still pressed to her face.
"The lady gently removed her hand, and examined her little girl's cheek. There was a red mark as if a blow had been received; but no evidence of a bruise.

"Agnes," said the mother, now speaking very calmly and gently, yet with a firmness that at once subdued the excitement of her child's mind, "I want you to stop crying, and tell me all about this trouble with John."

"The child's tears ceased to flow; and she looked up into her mother's face.
"Agnes, you gave the first provocation in this matter, or John?"
"John struck me in the face," replied the child, evincing a great deal of angry feeling towards her brother.

"Why did he strike?"
"Agnes was silent.
"Who saw the trouble between you and John?" inquired the mother.
"Why, Mary saw it. She'll tell you that John struck me in the face with his right hand. 'Tell Mary that I wish to see her.'" Agnes went for her sister. When they returned the mother said:

"Now, Mary, tell me about this trouble with John and Agnes."
"You saw him strike me, didn't you Mary?" said Agnes, with resentment.
"I will question Mary," said the mother.
"And while I am doing so, Agnes, must have nothing to say. After Mary has finished then you can correct her statement, if you wish to do so. Now, Mary, say on."

"Well, mother I'll tell you just how it was," said Mary. "Agnes was teasing John, and John got angry."
"And struck his sister. There was a tone of severity in the mother's voice.
"I think the blow was accidental," said Mary. "John declared that it was, and tried his best to comfort Agnes; even promising to give her his pet kitten, if she would stop crying, and not make trouble by telling you." But she was angry, and would not listen to him.

"Tell me just what occurred, Mary, and then I shall know exactly how far both were to blame."
"Well," answered Mary, "John and I were playing checkers, and Agnes would, every now and then, steal up behind John, and push his elbow when he was making a move. It worried him, and he asked her over and over again not to do so. But she didn't mind what he said. At last John posted the board from him, and wouldn't play any longer. He was angry. Still Agnes seemed bent on annoying him. John got a book and sat down near the window to read. He had not been there long before Agnes stole up behind him, whipped the book out of his hand, and ran away. John sprang after her, and they had a struggle for the book, in which Agnes got a blow upon the face. 'I was looking at them, and I think the blow was accidental.' It seemed so at the time, and John declares that he did not mean to strike her. 'That is all, mother.'"

"Call your brother," said the lady, in a subdued voice. John entered the room in a few moments. He was pale, and looked troubled.
"My son," said the mother, speaking with out apparent excitement, yet with a touch of garnish in her voice, "did you strike Agnes on purpose?"
"The boy's lips quivered, but no answer came through them. He looked into his mother's eyes for a moment or two, until tears blinded him, and then he laid his face down upon her bosom and sobbed. With Agnes's tender instinct, the mother drew her arm tightly around her boy, and there was silence for the space of nearly a minute.

"It was an accident, I am sure," whispered the mother, placing her lips close to the ear of her boy.
"I don't know," John answered back with earnestness. "My hand slipped as I tried to get my book away from her, and it struck her in the face. 'I was so sorry!'"

What less could the mother do than kiss with order the fair brow of the boy, against whom, under the influence of anger, she had passed a hasty judgment. She almost shuddered as she thought of the unjust punishment she had done him inflicting while blind from sudden excitement.

"The chief blame, I see, rests with Agnes," said the lady, turning with some severity of voice and countenance towards her little girl, who now stood with the aspect of a culprit instead of an accuser.

"It was her fault, mother," John spoke up quickly. "She loves to tease, you know, and I was wrong to get angry."
John and Mary went out and left their mother alone with Agnes. When the little girl joined her brothers and sisters some time afterwards, she had a sober face like one whose spirit was not at ease with itself. She had been guilty of a double wrong, and had come near drawing down upon her innocent brother an unjust punishment. So clearly had her mother brought this to her view, that shame followed conviction, and she was now ready to acknowledge her fault, and promise better conduct in the future.

But the one who profited most by this scene of trouble, was the children's mother. After all was harmonized again, and she was alone with her own thoughts, she lifted a heart of thankfulness for self-control, and prayed that she might ever possess her spirit in calmness.

F. R. S.
The following capital story respecting the meaning of the important (and to foreigners) calabash initials, is told in the last number of "The Era." It appears that a certain United States man of eccentric habit, acquired great notoriety from his fondness for oysters and tasteful delicacies. This worthy was in the habit of writing after his name whether upon his card or in the visitors' book at hotels the mysterious letters, F. R. S. One morning, a newly-arrived English gentleman, of middle age and grave aspect, was looking over the list of arrivals. He was struck by the mysterious letters, as every one else had been. "F. R. S.," he muttered to himself; "it can't be! yet there the letters are! Who would have thought it!" The clerk was called up and requested to explain. He knew nothing more than that one of the boarders and lodgers had put his name down with that handle attached. "Show him to me!" said the Englishman eagerly. "There he goes now, sir!" said the clerk pointing to our hero. The next moment "Old Shell" felt his arm grasped by another hand, whilst his arm went through a rapid and vigorous motion, famously known as the "pump-handle action."

It was the Englishman, his face beaming with cordiality. "Delighted to meet you, sir!" He had not the slightest idea of seeing one of our society on this side of the water!—When were you a member? My memory is so defective. "Member of what?" said "Old Shell," half surprised, half angry. "Oh, don't be so modest, my dear Sir! Modest! the deuce!
What society? No, no, no, now! I am a fellow, I know! 'Dash my buttons, stranger!' exclaimed "Shell," thoroughly indignant; "do you call me a fellow? Fellow of the Royal Society, Sir. You mistake my meaning. Fellow of the Royal Society of London?"
"I do, no Londoner, man; I came from down South, I do. I am an oyster man, I am!"
"Why, what on earth does F. R. S. mean, then, attached to your name?" said the astor-shed Englishman, science and surprise beaming from his countenance. "Well, stranger, I don't care if I do tell you! You see I like oysters, I do; and F. R. S. means exactly nothing more nor less than Fried, Roasted, and Stewed."

Parliamentary.
Provincial Parliament.
SATURDAY, April 9th.
The Speaker took the chair at eleven o'clock
a. m.

Mr. McMeiken presented a petition from Jane Richardson, of Brantford, against the bill now before the House to secure to married women certain separate rights of property. Mr.
McMeiken moved that the petition be received, and laid upon the table without reference to the Committee.—Carried.

Mr. Foley introduced a Bill to amend the Registry Act of last session.
The House having gone into Committee on the Bill to incorporate the Montreal Literary Society's Bill.

Mr. Foley pressed the hon. member for Drummond and Arthabaska (Mr. Dunkin) to leave in the Bill the clause providing that no bequests should be made within six months of the death of the testator.

Mr. Dunkin, however, refused to accede to the request, and motion made by him to erase the clause was carried by a vote of 35 to 40.

The Bill then passed through Committee.
The following other Bills passed through Committee, and were reported.—Bill to change the limits of the Municipality of Lake St. John, and to divide the same into two.—Mr. Price; Bill to incorporate the Canada State Company.—Mr. Drummond; Bill to incorporate the Metropolitan Fire Insurance Company.— Mr. Dorion; Bill to amend the Act for the incorporation of the St. Lawrence Warehouse, Dock, and Wharfage Company.—Mr. Le-meux; Bill to alter the limits of the Township of Halifax North, County of Megantic.
Mr. Herbert; Bill to incorporate the Wes-

OR
WRITING BY SOUND!!
PHOTOGRAPHY was invented by ISAAC
PITMAN, of Bath, England, in the year 1837. It is the most simple, most natural, most rapid, and most easily-learned system of Writing which has ever been, or ever can be invented.
During the past fifteen years, hundreds of thousands of persons, in England and America, in both public and private life, have learned to write Phonography, and thousands of business letters annually pass through the post office.
Nor is its great popularity to be wondered at.
The present system of writing is exceedingly cumbersome, and totally unworthy these days of progress and invention. Phonography is equally as legible, can be learned in one twentieth the time, and can be written six times as fast. In other words, the labor of six days can be performed in one—no man can do the work of six! So simple is the system, too, that a person may learn to write it slowly, in a couple of hours. An hour's daily practice for a few weeks will enable any person to write Phonography with certainty, and with some degree of freedom. The same amount of practice continued for six months will enable a person to take reports of speeches, lectures, sermons, or conversation, and to read them with accuracy.
Dr. J. W. Stone, of Boston, says: "I deem Phonography an invaluable adjunct to education, and one which, when acquired in youth, would not be parted with in manifold for thousands of dollars."
The late Hon. THOMAS H. BENTON, upon being presented with a verbatim report of one of his masterly speeches, taken by a little boy of ten years of age, said: "Had this report been known 40 years ago it would have saved me 20 years hard labor!" The learned Senator spoke but a portion of the truth. What long-hand requires six years to accomplish, Phonography will perform in one.

Prof. Griswold's
CURLICULIAN & HAIR INVIGORATOR.
THE only Preparation ever invented that will Effectually Restore, and promote the Growth of the Hair. The discovery was accidentally made by using it on his own head, to cure a nervous pain, to which he had been subject for years, and in consequence of which he lost most of his hair. He not only found himself cured of the painful disease, but to his agreeable surprise, his hair was again restored in fourfold, being now thick, glossy, and soft, and about two feet long, hanging in beautiful curls about his shoulders,—a living testimony of his newly discovered remedy. This is also a certain remedy for Pimples and Itchiness on the Face.
He would invite the attention of the Public to the following Certificates:—
From Mr. Joseph B. Willson, 4th Con. of Whitechurch, June 8, 1858.
FRIEND GRISWOLD,—Having tried thy Curliculian or Hair Invigorator, I do believe it to be very beneficial to the head and hair, as prescribed on the bottle. When I commenced using it, my hair became very loose and came out when combed; but when I had applied it a few times, I found it fell quite fast; and I also believe it to be very good for pain in the head.
JOSEPH B. WILLSON.
From Mrs. Slider, Slider's Corner, 7th Con. Whitechurch, June 11, 1858.
MR. R. W. GRISWOLD,—Some ten years since, I was afflicted with the sick head ache, which was at times very severe, leaving my head in a very hot and feverish condition. Not long after this my hair commenced falling off very fast, and the top of my head was entirely bare, and at times I and free from it. The pain of my head, I have had at different times a great many things recommended for the growth of the hair, but the use of them had no effect, whatever. Believing from the description you gave of its effects on your own head for the cure of a protracted head-ache, and the immense growth of hair it produced for you, I was induced to try your Restorative. In November last I purchased four bottles from you. The result is that my hair is now growing, and is very thick, glossy, and soft, and about two feet long, hanging in beautiful curls about my shoulders. I think it impossible the color can be so restored, and I believe that you have known me for years, in regard to the above statement. The Hair Restorative also cured the pain in my head.
SARAH SLIDER.
From Mrs. Rebecca Willson, Union-st., East Gwillimbury, June 8, 1858.
MR. GRISWOLD,—The bottle of Hair Restorative you presented to me has entirely cured the pain in my head which I had long been subject to. After using it I had the influence in my neck, and the cure of the pain in my head suggested the use of the Hair Restorative, which having used twice, the result is a perfect cure. It affords me much pleasure in having the opportunity of thanking you for the relief it afforded me, and also make its healing powers known to the public.
REBECCA WILLSON.
From Mrs. C. W. February, 1859.
FRIEND GRISWOLD,—In consequence of a recent attack of Erysipelas in my face and head, this summer—and perhaps the Erysipelas used to subdue the inflammation—I lost nearly all my hair. After my recovery, when in Newmarket, Dr. Nash, of that place, recommended me to try your Curliculian or Hair Restorative. Some time after, you being in this place, perceived the state of my head, and gave me a bottle to try. Having applied it according to the directions, in a short time my head was covered with a new and luxuriant growth of hair, which attracted the attention of my friends, and after a few weeks I again had a good head of hair.
In regard to the curing properties of your preparation, I may state, that previous to my sickness, my hair did not curl; the new growth, to my surprise, however, curls naturally, without the least artificial aid, and has a much healthier and better appearance. It has been cut twice, and its inclination to curl appears the same.
The above is a plain statement of facts. I have much pleasure in recommending your Curliculian in similar cases.

cent attack of Erysipelas in my face and head, this summer—and perhaps the Erysipelas used to subdue the inflammation—I lost nearly all my hair. After my recovery, when in Newmarket, Dr. Nash, of that place, recommended me to try your Curliculian or Hair Restorative. Some time after, you being in this place, perceived the state of my head, and
gave me a bottle to try. Having applied it according to the directions, in a short time my head was covered with a new and luxuriant growth of hair, which attracted the attention of my friends, and
after a few weeks I again had a good head of hair.
In regard to the curing properties of your preparation, I may state, that previous to my sickness, my
hair did not curl; the new growth, to my surprise, however, curls naturally, without the least artificial
aid, and has a much healthier and better appearance. It has been cut twice, and its inclination to curl appears the same.
The above is a plain statement of facts. I have much pleasure in recommending your Curlicu-
lian in similar cases.
Geo. FRANKLAND.

PHOTOGRAPHY was invented by ISAAC
PITMAN, of Bath, England, in the year 1837. It is the most simple, most natural, most rapid, and most easily-learned system of Writing which has ever been, or ever can be invented.
During the past fifteen years, hundreds of thousands of persons, in England and America,
in both public and private life, have learned to write Phonography, and thousands of business
letters annually pass through the post office.
Nor is its great popularity to be wondered at.
The present system of writing is exceedingly
cumbersome, and totally unworthy these days
of progress and invention. Phonography is equally as legible, can be learned in one twentieth the time, and can be written six times as fast. In other words, the labor of six days can be performed in one—no man can do the work of six! So simple is the system, too, that a person may learn to write it slowly, in a couple of hours. An hour's daily practice for a few weeks will enable any person to write Phono-
freedom. The same amount of practice continued for six months will enable a person to
take reports of speeches, lectures, sermons, or
conversation, and to read them with accuracy.
Dr. J. W. Stone, of Boston, says: "I deem Phonography an invaluable adjunct to education, and one which, when acquired in youth,
would not be parted with in manifold for thousands of dollars."
The late Hon. THOMAS H. BENTON, upon being presented with a verbatim report of one of
his masterly speeches, taken by a little boy
of ten years of age, said: "Had this report
been known 40 years ago it would have saved
me 20 years hard labor!" The learned Senator spoke but a portion of the truth. What
long-hand requires six years to accomplish, Phonography will perform in one.

Prof. Griswold's
CURLICULIAN & HAIR INVIGORATOR.
THE only Preparation ever invented that will Effectually Restore, and promote the Growth of the Hair. The discovery was accidentally made by using it on his own head, to cure a
of his hair.
